Risk Assessment Criteria for Tertiary Education Institutions

Background

Section 195A of the Education Act 1989 (“the Act”) requires the Secretary for Education to determine and publish in the New Zealand Gazette criteria for assessing the level of risk to the operation and long-term viability of tertiary education institutions, and the level of risk to the education performance of students enrolled at polytechnics. This notice sets out these criteria.

These risk assessment criteria will be considered by the Chief Executive of the Tertiary Education Commission

(TEC) and the Minister for Tertiary Education (“Minister”) when they consider whether an institution is at risk in a way that might warrant intervention in accordance with Parts 15 and 15A of the Act.

Whether the Chief Executive of the TEC or the Minister decides to initiate an intervention will depend on their assessment of the nature and level of the risk or risks, and the thresholds for the various types of intervention set out in the Act. Other relevant considerations may also be taken into account. For example, the Chief Executive of the TEC or the Minister will assess the appropriateness of the steps already being taken by the council of the institution before deciding whether or how to intervene.

Different interventions available under the Act have different risk level thresholds. These risk level thresholds are described by statements in the Act relating to whether:

- an institution “may be at risk” [sections 195B (provision of information), 222A (specialist help), and 222B (performance improvement plans)].
- the “operation or long term viability of an institution is at risk” [section 195C (Crown Observer)].
- “there is a serious risk to the operation or long-term viability of the institution” [sections 195D (Crown commissioner), and 222C (Crown manager)].
- “the education performance of the students at a polytechnic may be or is at risk” (this relates only to polytechnics) [sections 222A (specialist help), 222B (performance improvement plans), and 222C (Crown manager)].

The risk assessment criteria apply to three areas.

These are:

- organisational;
- financial; and
- educational.

Two of the risk assessment criteria cross-reference the Financial Monitoring Framework operated by the TEC from 1 January 2010<sup>1</sup>.

To the extent that the Financial Monitoring Framework is incorporated by reference in this notice, it shall be taken to be the Financial Monitoring Framework in the form published by the TEC on its website on the date of publication of this notice in the New Zealand Gazette. Any revision to the Financial Monitoring Framework will not be automatically included in this notice, and a replacement notice will need to be published in the New Zealand Gazette to give effect to any changes to the TEC’s Financial Monitoring Framework.

Nothing in this notice limits or affects the duties of a tertiary education institution council under section 181 of the Act, or any other duties or obligations of an institution or council under any other enactment.

Words and phrases used in this notice bear the same meaning as under the Act.

Criteria for Assessing the Level of Risk

Organisational

1. The council has not fulfilled, and continues not to fulfil, its statutory functions and duties under the Education Act 1989.
2. The council has failed, and continues to fail, to ensure the institution maintains adequate systems and processes for effective planning, and for the effective management of the financial and educational performance and infrastructure of the institution.
3. The council or the institution has failed, and continues to fail, to meet a material obligation under the Education Act 1989, Crown Entities Act 2004 or Public Finance Act 1989.

Financial

4. The institution is, or is at risk of being, unable to pay its debts as they become due in the normal course of business.
5. The institution has breached any of the conditions set by the Secretary for Education in a borrowing consent under section 192(7) of the Education Act 1989, and the breach has not been remedied.
6. The institution is in default under any loan or other facility agreement with a bank or other commercial lender, or the Crown, and the default has not been remedied.
7. The institution has an overall rating of Moderate Risk or High Risk in the most recent financial performance assessment carried out under the Financial Monitoring Framework operated by the TEC from 1 January 2010<sup>1</sup>. The overall financial performance assessment under the Financial Monitoring Framework covers the dimensions of the shorter term financial viability and longer term sustainability of the institution.
8. The institution has a rating of Moderate Risk or High Risk under the financial viability criteria in its most recent financial performance assessment carried out under the Financial Monitoring Framework operated by the TEC from 1 January 2010<sup>1</sup>. The financial viability criteria under the Financial Monitoring Framework focus on the shorter term financial performance of the institution.

9. The polytechnic has failed to meet the educational performance commitments in the Investment Plan agreed by the TEC.
10. The external evaluation and review of the polytechnic carried out under the auspices of the New Zealand Qualifications Authority has resulted in an assessment of educational performance that is “not yet confident” or “not confident”.

Dated at Wellington this 22nd day of December 2011.

LESLEY LONGSTONE, Secretary for Education.

Electricity Authority

Electricity Industry Act 2010

Notice of the Electricity Industry Participation (High Spring Washer Price Situation) Code Amendment 2011

1. Pursuant to section 38(3)(b) of the Electricity Industry Act 2010 ("Act"), the Electricity Authority ("Authority") gives notice of the making of the Electricity Industry Participation (High Spring Washer Price Situation) Code Amendment 2011.
2. The amendment is made urgently under section 40(1) of the Act. The amendment comes into force on 23 December 2011.
3. The amendment provides for a change to the methodology that the system operator must apply to resolve a high spring washer price situation to take into account the system operator's simultaneous feasibility test.
4. The amendment requires that the high spring washer price relaxation factor be applied to parallel transmission security constraints in certain circumstances.
5. The Authority considers that it is desirable to make the amendment urgently because:
  - (a) since the system operator changed the process for applying constraints to parallel lines in March 2011, there is a high risk that a high spring washer price

situation involving parallel lines will no longer be able to be resolved by applying clause 13.134 of the Electricity Industry Participation Code 2010 ("Code");

- (b) such an outcome is highly likely to undermine confidence in the pricing process, and could potentially give rise to participants claiming an undesirable trading situation (due to the inability of the current methodology in the Code to resolve the high spring washer price situation); and
  - (c) although the chance of such a situation occurring within the period required to develop a normal Code amendment is low, the consequence is significant enough to make it desirable in the public interest to make an urgent amendment to the Code.
6. A copy of the amendment and the Code is available on the Electricity Authority's website
www.ea.govt.nz/act-code-regs/code-regs/
  7. A copy of the amendment and the Code may also be inspected free of charge or purchased from the Electricity Authority, Level 7, ASB Bank Tower, 2 Hunter Street, Wellington.

Notice of Replacement of Scope of Practice

Pursuant to section 11 of the Health Practitioners Competence Assurance Act 2003, this notice is issued by the Dental Council.

The following replaces the scope of practice for the “Scope of Dental Hygiene Practice” in the notice published in the New Zealand Gazette, 17 March 2011, No. 32, page 872*.

Dental Hygiene

Scope of Dental Hygiene Practice

The scope of practice for dental hygiene is set out in the documented “Detailed Scope of Practice for Dental Hygiene Practice” produced and published from time to time by the Dental Council.

Dental hygiene practice is a subset of the practice of dentistry, and is commensurate with a dental hygienist’s approved education, training and competence.

A dental hygienist’s major role is in the provision of oral health education and the prevention of oral disease to promote healthy oral behaviours. A dental hygienist’s primary task is in prevention and non-surgical treatment of periodontal diseases. A dental hygienist guides patients’ personal care to maintain sound oral tissues as an integral part of their general health.

Dental hygienists practise in a team situation with clinical guidance provided by a practising dentist or dental specialist<sup>1</sup>, though some aspects of the scope of practice are provided under direct clinical supervision<sup>2</sup>.

Detailed Scope of Practice for Dental Hygiene Practice

The Dental Council defines the practice of dentistry as the maintenance of health through the assessment, diagnosis, management, treatment and prevention of any disease, disorder or condition of the orofacial complex and associated structures.

Dental hygiene practice is a subset of the practice of dentistry, and is commensurate with a dental hygienist's approved education, training and competence.

A dental hygienist's major role is in the provision of oral health education and the prevention of oral disease to promote healthy oral behaviours. A dental hygienist's primary task is in prevention and non-surgical treatment of periodontal diseases. A dental hygienist guides patients' personal care to maintain sound oral tissues as an integral part of their general health. Dental hygienists practise in a team situation with clinical guidance provided by a practising dentist or dental specialist, though some aspects of the scope of practice are provided under direct clinical supervision.

Dental hygiene practice includes teaching, research and management given that such roles influence clinical practice and public safety.

Dental hygiene practice involves the following aspects:

Provided under clinical guidance:

- Obtaining and reassessing medical and dental health histories.
- Examination of oral tissues and recognition of abnormalities.
- Assessing and provisionally diagnosing disease of periodontal tissues, and appropriate referral.
- Obtaining informed consent for dental hygiene care plans.

- Performing postoperative procedures such as removal of sutures and placement and removal of periodontal dressings.
- Recontouring and polishing of restorations.
- Taking periapical and bitewing radiographs for the purpose of recognising disease of the periodontium<sup>3</sup>.
- Taking extra-oral radiographs.
- Assisting the dentist or dental specialist in implementing orthodontic treatment plans, prepared by the dentist or dental specialist responsible for the patient's clinical care outcomes, through performing the following orthodontic procedures:

  - Supragingival polishing of teeth (as part of oral hygiene, before bonding and after removal of fixed attachments).
  - Providing oral hygiene instruction and advice on the care and maintenance of orthodontic appliances.

  - Trial fitting of removable appliances. This does not include activation.

Key to Annotations

<sup>1</sup>Clinical guidance means the professional support and assistance provided to a dental hygienist by a practising dentist or dental specialist as part of the provision of overall integrated care to the patient group. Dental hygienists and dentists or dental specialists normally work from the same premises providing a team approach. Clinical guidance may be provided at a distance but appropriate access must be available to ensure that the dentist or dental specialist is able to provide guidance and advice, when required, and maintain general oversight of the clinical care outcomes of the patient group. Dental hygienists are responsible and accountable for their own clinical practice within their scope of practice but the dentist or dental specialist is responsible and accountable for the clinical guidance provided. Further detail on the working relationship between dental hygienists and dentists will be set out in the relevant Dental Council Code of Practice.

<sup>2</sup>Direct clinical supervision means the clinical supervision provided to a dental hygienist by a practising dentist or dental specialist when the dentist is present on the premises at the time the dental hygiene work is carried out.

<sup>3</sup>Section 15 of the Radiation Protection Act 1965 requires non-licensed persons who take x-rays to do so under the supervision or instructions of a person who holds a licence under that Act.
