(2) Terms otherwise defined in sections 3(1), 61E, and 136 of the Act have the same meanings in this direction.

4. Application—This direction:

- a. applies when you are considering whether to exercise your discretion under the proviso to section 82(3) of the Act to redirect a person's benefit; but
- b. for the avoidance of doubt, does not apply to a requirement to deduct and pay money from a person's benefit under any deduction notice or attachment order under any enactment.

5. Good cause and exercise of discretion—(1) For the purposes of the proviso to section 82(3) of the Act, you may, without limitation, consider there is good cause to redirect a person's benefit, and may exercise your discretion to redirect the person's benefit, if you are satisfied that the person is in any of the following situations:

- a. the person is a tenant of any social housing and the redirection is required to ensure the person meets his or her rental commitments;

- g. the person is otherwise liable to pay any debt or other liability for goods or services that you consider are essential for the person or any of his or her dependants and the redirection is necessary to make payments towards the amount due:
- h. the person has a history of poor financial management and the redirection is necessary to ensure the priority needs (including those relating to essential services, telecommunication costs, accommodation costs, medical care, or education) of the person and his or her dependants are met.

(2) Nothing in subclause (1) requires you to redirect a benefit or an instalment of a benefit if, in the circumstances of the case:

- a. you exercise your discretion not to do so; or
- b. you consider there would be insufficient funds for the redirection to operate having regard to:
 - i. any abatement of the person's benefit due to income:
 - ii. any required deductions from the person's benefit under any deduction notice or attachment order under any enactment:
 - iii. any required reduction of the person's benefit under any provision of the Act (for example, sections 70, 70A, or 71A).
