Charitable Trusts Act Notices

TRINITY SCHOOLS TRUST BOARD

Notice of Application for Approval of a Scheme

Under Part III of the Charitable Trusts Act 1957

Notice is hereby given that the trustees of the TRINITY SCHOOLS TRUST BOARD ("the Trust") established by deed dated the 20th day of January 1921 ("the Trust Deed") have filed an application in the office of the High Court at Masterton for approval of a scheme varying the terms of the Trust under which the Trust assets are held.

Under the Trust Deed, the trustees hold certain assets for the three Trinity Schools, namely Rathkeale College, St Matthews Collegiate and Hadlow Preparatory School.

The Trust Deed has previously been amended twice by Court orders and it is now proposed to vary the Trust Deed further in the following ways:

- (a) Streamline the governance structure by reducing the number of trustees.
- (b) Shorten the tenure of trustees' appointments.
- (c) Provide a meaningful trust document with a modern focus without upsetting the purpose or integrity of the original objects of the Trust Deed.

The proposed amendments are purely administrative in nature and do not change the objects of the trust.

Copies of the scheme and the report of the Attorney-General thereon may be inspected, free of charge, at the office of the Registrar of the High Court at Masterton under CIV-2011-435-3 or at the office of Greenwood Roche and Chisnall, Solicitors, Level 9, 36 Customhouse Quay, Wellington, or at the office of St Matthew's Collegiate, 33 Pownall Street, Masterton.

The application has been set down for hearing in the High Court at Wellington on 7 March 2011.

Any person desiring to oppose the scheme is required to give notice of his or her intention to do so to the Registrar of the High Court at Masterton and to John Paul Greenwood, trustee, at the offices of Greenwood Roche and Chisnall and the Attorney-General not less than seven clear days before the above-mentioned date.

Dated this 17th day of January 2011.

G. F. KELLY, Solicitor for Applicant.

Tax Administration Act 1994

Special Determination S17: Utilisation of a Profit Emerging Basis for Purchased Debt Ledgers by a Certain New Zealand Company Limited

This determination may be cited as “Special Determination S17: Utilisation of a Profit Emerging Basis for Acquired Bad Debts by a Certain New Zealand Company Limited”.

1. Explanation

(Note that the explanation does not form part of the determination.)

(1) This determination relates to the ability of New Zealand Company Limited (NZC) to utilise a profit emerging basis for returning income and expenditure arising from the acquisition and collection of a portfolio of distressed debts acquired at a deep discount.

(2) NZC acquires for valuable consideration pools of unpaid loans and receivables, which may consist of a few hundred to a few thousand individual debts (ABDs).

(3) NZC acquires the ABDs at a deep discount to their face value. NZC subsequently seeks to recover the overdue balances from debtors through various means.

(4) The acquisition of an individual ABD is done on the expectation that its recoveries will be in excess of the purchase price and the cost incurred in attempting collection. Some debts may not achieve any recovery and become uncollectable, and others may be partially collected. The volatility of cash collections may be attributed to such things as the nature of the underlying debt, its age and type, as well as external economic conditions and the effort applied.

(5) NZC previously applied IAS 39 to ABDs for financial reporting purposes. From (and including) the financial year ended 30 June 2010, NZC will apply AASB 9 to ABDs for financial reporting purposes.

(6) This determination provides that NZC’s tax liability for an income year will be based on actual collections reduced by the proportion of purchase cost allocated to that income year.

2. Reference

This determination is made under section 90AC(1)(bb) of the Tax Administration Act 1994.

3. Scope of determination

(1) This determination applies to the tax treatment of ABDs acquired by New Zealand Company Limited (NZC).

(2) ABDs are pools of unpaid loans and receivables. These pools may consist of a few hundred to a few thousand individual debts.

(3) NZC acquires the ABDs at a deep discount to their face value on the expectation that its recoveries will be in excess of the purchase price and the cost incurred in attempting collection.

(4) NZC previously applied IAS 39 to ABDs for financial reporting purposes. From (and including) the financial year ended 30 June 2010, NZC will apply AASB 9 to ABDs for financial reporting purposes.

(5) NZC will apply the spreading method adjustment formula in section EW 27 of the Income Tax Act 2007 to any financial arrangements (forming part of an ABD) to which it was a party at the end of the financial year ended 30 June 2009.

(6) This determination is made subject to the following conditions:

- (i) NZC is satisfied on the basis of objective criteria that five years is the appropriate period over which cashflows from an ABD are to be forecast; and
- (ii) NZC will not take a deduction for the acquisition cost of an ABD (or any part thereof) except as set out in this determination; and
- (iii) NZC continues to treat all underlying debts to which it becomes a party on the acquisition of an ABD (which would otherwise be excepted financial arrangements) as financial arrangements under section EW 8 of the Income Tax Act 2007.

4. Principle

(1) All underlying debts to which NZC becomes a party on the acquisition of an ABD are either financial arrangements as defined in section EW 3 of the Income Tax Act 2007, or are treated as financial arrangements by NZC under section EW 8 of the Income Tax Act 2007.

(2) This determination specifies that income and expenditure from an ABD for an income year is recognised using a profit emerging method. This method takes into account actual cash flows less an apportionment of the cost of purchase.

(3) The apportionment of the purchase cost of an ABD is based on the original forecasted recoveries for the income year as a proportion of the total original forecasted recoveries from the ABD over a five-year period.

(4) Any cash collections will be returned as income in the income year in which they are received.

5. Interpretation

In this determination (and the Explanation), unless the context otherwise requires:

Words and expressions used (which have not been defined elsewhere within the determination) have the same meaning as in section YA 1 of the Income Tax Act 2007.

IAS 39 means International Accounting Standard 39 (Financial instruments: recognition and measurement), issued by the International Accounting Standards Board.

AASB 9 means Australian Accounting Standard AASB 9 (Financial instruments), issued by the Australian Accounting Standards Board.

6. Method

The profit emerging method is illustrated in the following formula:

$$AI = AC - \frac{(PC \times OF)}{TECC}$$

AI = assessable income of an ABD for an income year

AC = actual cash collected from the ABD during the income year

PC = purchase costs of ABD

OF = original forecast cash to be collected during the income year

TECC = total expected cash to be collected over five years, forecast at date of purchase

Once the cost of the ABD is fully amortised, cash collected after the five-year period will be treated as derived in the income year in which it is received.

7. Example

This example illustrates the application of the method (set out in this determination) for determining the income and expenditure attributable to an ABD in each income year.

This example proceeds on the following parameters:

Purchase date	1 July 2006
ABD purchase cost (PC)	1,000,000
Forecast cash collection (OF)
Year 1	1,068,000
Year 2	582,000

Year 2	600,000
Year 3	293,000
Year 4	88,000
Year 5	20,800
Year 6	6,800
Year 7	500

Taxable income	2007	2008	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013	Total
Original forecast cash (OF)	1,068,000	582,000	274,000	58,000	18,000	0	0	2,000,000

Less (PC x OF/TECC)	534,000	291,000	137,000	29,000	9,000	0	0	1,000,000

This determination is signed by me on the 17th day of December 2010.
