Explanatory Note

This note is not part of the instrument but is intended to explain its general effect.

This instrument, which comes into effect on 3 November 2008, amends two ministerial welfare programmes under the Social Security Act 1964, the Home Help Programme and the Away from Home Allowance Programme, to exempt certain payments from affecting a person's eligibility to assistance under those programmes. These programmes concerned link eligibility for assistance to eligibility for the community services card or the family tax credit, which may be affected by the payments made.

The new exemptions apply to compensation and ex gratia payments made by the Crown to a person in recognition of harm or in respect of a claim of harm and to specified payments made to a person by the Viet Nam Veterans and Their Families Trust. The exemptions are limited to 12 months from the date of payment.

The instrument also updates references to family support under the Income Tax Act 2004 to the family tax credit under the Income Tax Act 2007.

Telecommunications Act 2001

Commencement of Schedule 3 Investigation

On 8 May 2008, the Commerce Commission (“Commission”) informed interested parties that it was considering commencing an investigation under Schedule 3 of the Telecommunications Act 2001 (“the Act”) into whether or not to subject mobile-to-mobile termination rates for both voice and short-message-services to regulation, and sought the views of interested parties.

Following submissions from interested parties, the Commission released an Issues Paper on 8 August 2008 seeking further feedback on a number of issues, and sought the views of interested parties on these issues.
